

Wendy Damonte, Conversation Moderator

Vice President of Advocacy and Community Partnership, Renown Health

Wendy comes to Renown from KTVN Channel 2 where she held a long and distinguished career in the news industry. Serving as the station's health reporter, Wendy has been a visible advocate in the local community for health and wellness issues including serving as Chief Promotional Officer for Each One. Tell One. – a local nonprofit that promotes early detection of breast cancer.

In this new role, Wendy advances Renown Health's mission by cultivating relationships with community organizations. She is responsible for building strong grassroots engagement by increasing Renown's visibility and program delivery. Additionally, Wendy collaborates to advance Renown's public stance for health and health policy issues.

Wendy is a longtime Reno resident, graduating from the University of Nevada, Reno with a major in journalism and Spanish. She is an avid outdoor enthusiast competing in triathlons and adventure races. She lives on a local ranch with her husband and two children.
